Raise your screen to eye level!

notebookup is a laptop-stand in a stylish and smart design, that rises your laptop computer to an ideal height when working at a desk.

notebookup suits all laptop computers from 12 to 17 inch screen size.

A passage to connect wires from external keyboard, mouse, etc. is discreetly placed to save space on your desk.

The foot of the stand provides generous room for an external keyboard to be stowed away, in order to keep your desk space free when not working with your computer.

Notebookup is designed to be stable on the desk, and to provide a steady base for your laptop. It can easily be moved from desk to conference room or where you prefer to work.

Notebookup provides a stylish solution to accommodate ergonomic requirements in arranging your workplace.

Raise your screen to eye level!

notebookup compensates for a weak spot in laptops, and provides a stylish, elegant and ergonomic workspace.

The weak spot of laptops is the low height of the screen, which generates strains in back and neck.

To prevent strains, Physiotherapists recommend that your laptop be placed in a way, which puts the upper edge of the screen at level with your eyes.

Laptops often replace stationary workstations.

It is recommended combining notebookup with an external keyboard and mouse, in order to accommodate the requirements of health and safety regulations, applied to work at computer screens.

notebookup solves these issues in a simple, stylish and functional way.

design

notebookup is designed by Morten Kokkendoff, architect and designer.
